

THE WHITEHAWK

FERNALD HIGH SCHOOL
Fernald, Iowa

Dedication

We, the Class of 1953, are proud to dedicate this annual to a man who has served the Fernald School and community long and faithfully. We hope this small token of appreciation will at least partially repay him for the many years he has served as secretary of the school board, as well as for the countless things he has done for us. It is with great pleasure we dedicate the 1953 "Whitehawk" to I. J. "Mac" McNatton.

School Board

Class History

On September 4, 1940, fifteen little pupils who were later to become known as the Fernald Class of 1953 began their search for knowledge under the guidance of Miss Frances DeVries. This group consisted of Shirley Baker, Barbara Cawthon, Ray Couser, Elaine Crosby, Donna Rae Danielson, Dean Handsaker, Joie Heintz, Jeanette Hitchings, Iris Hobson, Gay Huhn, Kay Huhn, Robert Peterson, Charles Riley, Helen Irene Shull, and Florence Watt. Later in the year we were joined by Carroll Dunahoo.

Miss DeVries returned to give us our first grade education. We had gained one new member, Jerry Springer, but had lost two of our primary classmates, Florence Watt and Iris Hobson.

We began the second grade under the instruction of Mrs. Betty Sorenson. After the death of her husband she was replaced by Mrs. Santee. Jerry Springer's stay with us was very brief for he moved away as did Carroll Dunahoo. Despite this, our class increased in size with the addition of Helen Wheelock, Viola Borton, Albert Borton, and Lavaughn Gull.

Long division, geography, and other fascinating (?) skills were introduced to us, as third graders, by Miss Pearl Picht. It was also during this year that we acquired two girls who were to be permanent members of our class--Janet McBride and Evelyn Jarboe. Marilyn Griffith also joined us, but five of last year's members were not on hand to answer roll call this year: Shirley Baker, Jeannette Hitchings, Robert Peterson, Albert Borton, and Lavaughn Gull. Viola Borton also left during the year.

At last we were climbing the stairs to the fourth grade room and our new teacher, Mrs. Lela Caskey. The climb was evidently too much for Marilyn Griffith for she was no longer with us. Irene Shull left us in March, leaving our enrollment at twelve. Our class now included Barbara Cawthon, Ray Couser, Elaine Crosby, Donna Danielson, Dean Handsaker, Joie Heintz, Gay Huhn, Kay Huhn, Evelyn Jarboe, Janet McBride, Charles Riley, and Helen Wheelock.

Mrs. Louise Foote was our teacher during the fifth grade. With the loss of Joie Heintz and Charles Riley, our class had reached its smallest enrollment, ten members.

With the removal of primary from the Fernald School system, we returned to the same room for our sixth grade education. We don't know what Mrs. Foote's sentiments were upon learning this arrangement, but we were happy to have her as our teacher another year. Our membership was increased to twelve with the arrival of Carole Swartz and Margaret Miller.

Class History (Continued)

After three years we had finally made it through the sliding doors to Junior High. Somehow, we were not too surprised when we were greeted by Mrs. Edna Talbott who was to be our seventh grade teacher. Our class remained the same with the exception of Carole Swartz who had left after her brief stay with us.

Our eighth grade year was again spent under the guidance of Mrs. Talbott, who had bravely returned for another try at educating us. This proved to be no small task for we were growing impatient after nine years in the brick schoolhouse, and were casting anxious eyes toward the long corridor and spacious rooms of the high school building. Phyllis Stevens joined our class from Shipley. On the night of Thursday, May 12, 1949, we felt every bit as proud and important as the Seniors for that was the night we received our eighth grade diplomas; and, despite threats to the contrary, all of them were signed by Mrs. Talbott. The eighth grade graduating class numbered twelve and included Barbara Cawthon, Ray Couser, Elaine Crosby, Donna Rae Danielson, Dean Handsaker, Gay Huhn, Kay Huhn, Evelyn Jarboe, Janet McBride, Margaret Miller, Phyllis Stevens, and Helen Wheelock.

Thirteen of the greenest Freshmen F. H. S. had seen entered high school in the fall of 1949. After a thorough initiation we settled down to the high school routine, which to our surprise was not too much different from grade school days. Our class acquired Grade Berger from Zearing. Our teachers included J. M. Wright, Superintendent, Mrs. Marie McGinnis, and Mrs. Martha Hansen. After Mr. Wright's resignation, Mr. Tyler and Mr. Hahn each served briefly as his substitute.

The big feature of our Sophomore year was initiating that year's Freshmen, who, if possible, were even greener than we had been. Mike Kendall, Florence Watt, and Beverly Hall joined our class although the latter stayed but a few weeks. Grace Berger left our class for Waterloo. The entirely new faculty consisted of Ray O. Forbes, Superintendent, Mrs. Anne Forbes, T. O. Martin, and Mrs. Mabelle Chitty.

The first big event of our Junior year was our class play, "Gangway for Ghosts", which was presented October 31, 1951. Much of the year was spent planning for the Junior-Senior Banquet which was held at the Cloud Room in Des Moines. Our class membership of fourteen remained the same; but the faculty, with the exception of Mrs. Chitty, was new again. Don Begg was our new superintendent and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Miller completed the faculty.

Our Senior year arrived and the thirteen years which at times had seemed endless, now seemed remarkably short. Florence Watt and Mike Kendall had moved during the summer and Phyllis Stevens moved away in March. We were happy to have the same faculty return in addition to Mrs. Neva Cummings. Our last year proved to be very busy--we had our pictures taken at Waterloo; and the Juniors were hosts to us at a fine banquet at Lloyd's near Marshalltown; our class play, "Rest Assured", was presented April 29th; and we enjoyed Skip Day in Des Moines. Then came Baccalaureate and Commencement. With mixed emotions we received our diplomas Tuesday, May 19, 1953. Among the graduating class were seven of the original class which entered Fernald's halls of learning nearly thirteen years ago. The eleven members of the graduating class of 1953 included Barbara Cawthon, Ray Couser, Elaine Crosby, Donna Rae Danielson, Dean Handsaker, Gay Huhn, Kay Huhn, Evelyn Jarboe, Janet McBride, Margaret Miller, and Helen Wheelock.

Class Prophecy

The new ultra-modern Fernald Municipal Airport was swamped with arrivals one May evening in 1963. The annual Fernald Alumni Banquet was being held and alumni and former teachers from all over the world were journeying back to their old alma mater. As these visitors made their way through the heavy traffic of Fernald's metropolitan area they noted many changes. Where once had stood the Federal North Iowa Grain Elevator now stood a skyscraper to rival even the Empire State Building. Another point of interest was the gigantic Hackett Super Market, advertised as the largest in the United States. However, the greatest surprise of all greeted arrivals at the high school. The neat brick building which they had expected to find had been replaced by a mammoth glass-walled structure which had evidently been patterned after New York City's U. N. Building. Yes, after years of controversy, the consolidation issue had finally been accepted and Ames and Nevada High Schools had combined with Fernald making a high school enrollment of well over 2000.

As people began to enter the gym where the banquet was to be held they noticed a dark haired woman rushing about giving orders. A man in the crowd, probably one of her old high school sweethearts, exclaimed, "Why, I believe that is Kay Huhn." Hearing her name mentioned, the woman came over to the group and confirmed the fact that she indeed was Kay Huhn, now Kay Handsaker, of the class of '53. Although Kay was either too modest or too busy to tell the group at the time, they later learned that she was the social leader of Fernald and that no event of any importance was ever staged without her supervision.

It was not long until all the guests had assembled and were seated at the numerous tables in the gym. After a delicious dinner, the meeting was turned over to the president of the alumni association, a handsome man in uniform. For the benefit of those who had not been around Fernald recently, he introduced himself as Ray Couser. When he noticed several people looking questioningly at his uniform, Ray explained that after several years in the National Guard, he had become so interested in military matters, that he had worked himself up to head of the R. O. T. C. department at Iowa State College. It was evident that Ray was the same bashful, unassuming person he had been back at F. H. S., for he seemed embarrassed when the guests applauded his good fortune; and told the group that he was now going to introduce a group of really successful people--some former F. H. S. teachers.

The first teacher Ray introduced was Mrs. Edna Talbott, recently retired after years of teaching service at Fernald. As Mrs. Talbott rose to acknowledge the introduction, there were shouts of speech! speech! Mrs. Talbott apologized and said she would not be able to give a speech. She then explained that she was suffering from a rare nervous ailment common only to schoolteachers, and that her doctor had permitted her to attend the banquet only under the stipulation that she bring her private nurse with her. Mrs. Talbott then commented that she was sure everyone would be interested in meeting her nurse. All eyes turned toward the nurse and many had already recognized her when Mrs. Talbott gave her name. It was Margaret Miller, another member of the class of '53, a class which had, itself, probably contributed generously to Mrs. Talbott's nervous ailment.

The next teacher Ray introduced was Mrs. Mabelle Chitty, who was leading an even busier life than she had led as teacher at Fernald. Mrs. Chitty told the alumni members that she was the new head of the Des Moines Art Center and that she also taught art classes at Drake University. Wishing to turn the crowd's attention from her achievements, Mrs. Chitty said that she would like to introduce one of her former colleagues, Mrs. Neva Cummings. None of her old typing students were surprised to learn that Mrs. Cummings had advanced to the position of President of the Gregg Division of Northwestern University.

Just as Ray was starting to introduce the next guest, a strange looking character dressed in ragged overalls wandered into the gym. Believing this person to be in the wrong place, Ray began to explain that this was an alumni banquet and that only graduates of the local high school were allowed. "But I am a graduate of Fernald," the person exclaimed in a somewhat familiar voice. "I am Barbara Cawthon of the class of '53, now known to members of my society as 'Beautiful Barbara, Queen of the Hoboes.'" Needless to say, everyone was amazed, for they remembered Barb as an extremely industrious and ambitious high school student. Barbara proceeded to explain that she was riding the rails of a slow freight en route to Minnesota after a winter in Florida. When the train had come to a stop at a huge Rock Island Depot, she had disembarked to look around. It was then that she had noticed a familiar face--her former neighbor, Mac McNatton, and had realized that she was in her old home town. She then related how Mac had told her of the alumni banquet and how she had decided to attend it and renew old acquaintances.

After the excitement had subsided somewhat, Ray introduced another of Fernald's illustrious former teachers, Al Miller. Asked for an account of the ten years since he left F. H. S., Mr. Miller was just beginning to speak when a woman seated beside him jumped up and began to recite Mr. Miller's many accomplishments ending with his recent appointment as Commissioner of the Big Ten Conference. Yes, it was none other than Mrs. Miller. When asked about her career, Mrs. Miller reluctantly told the crowd that she was now serving as the head of the Julliard School of Music. She also told about the new music conservatory she had opened in Paris financed by the vast fortune she had accumulated while teaching at Fernald. She then introduced one of the teachers at this new school who was with her that evening. It proved to be one of her former pupils, Elaine Crosby. Elaine's appearance had not changed, although it was obvious that she had been living in Paris for she had already acquired a French accent.

Next on the program was some musical entertainment by a famous Fernald alumnus, Gay Huhn. Ray explained how Gay had consented to interrupt a busy television and radio schedule to return for the banquet. Gay was known in the music world as the "successor to Johnny Ray." After several songs, the enthusiastic audience agreed that the title was certainly well deserved.

After Gay had finished singing, Ray presented the main speaker of the evening. Ray related how this speaker had risen from the obscure post as Superintendent of Fernald High School to head of the electrical engineering department at Yale University, and how his inventions had revolutionized American industry and made his name a household word in every home in the nation. There was tumultuous applause when Ray finally announced the name of the speaker--Don Begg.

It was evident that Mr. Begg had an important speech prepared, for he requested that those present take notes on his talk. He had just said, "Take out a half sheet of paper," when a loud groan was heard from one of the far tables. The offender, an elegantly dressed blonde, apologized profusely for interrupting the speech, but said that the groan was a reflex reaction she had acquired when she used to hear that statement in Mr. Begg's Physics class. Mr. Begg immediately recognized the apologetic young woman as Donna Rae Danielson. In answer to his questioning, Donna told of her career as fashion editor of the "Ladies' Home Journal." After congratulating Donna on her successful career and reassuring her that he would not give a test over his speech, Mr. Begg proceeded to give a most entertaining and thought provoking talk.

Following Mr. Begg's speech, Ray introduced the four members of the class of '53 who had not been accounted for during the evening. The first of this group was Janet McBride. Janet hardly needed to tell of her occupation for she was known all over America and Europe as the wealthy owner of the fabulous McBride Steamship Lines. Janet had with her as guest the captain of her largest steamer, Captain John Harkness.

Evelyn Jarboe was the only member of the class to have remained in association with Fernald School. She had taken Mrs. Talbott's place as teacher in the Fernald elementary school system. An outstanding educator, Evelyn was even then being mentioned as successor to Jessie Parker as State Superintendent of Schools.

Dean Handsaker was well known because of his job as President of the General Motors Corporation, and the possibility that he might be the second man from that company to be appointed to the President's Cabinet seemed quite likely.

The final member of the Class of '53 was Helen Wheelock. She explained that she was acting as campaign manager for one of the more prominent presidential aspirants. Even though the conventions and election would not be held until the next year, Helen proceeded to give a campaign speech extolling the virtues of her candidate, and the huge red, white, and blue campaign button which she was wearing left no doubt as to her political sentiments. It read "I Like Wendell."

At last, the Fernald High School Class of 1953 was present and accounted for, all happy and successful in their varied professions.

Last Will and Testament of the Class of 1953

We, the Fernald Senior Class of 1953, being of sound body and comparatively sound mind, do hereby leave this last will and testament.

The "slams" which we have omitted from this book to last year's Seniors in return for those they so "kindly" gave us last year.

Barb and Janet's locker to Mr. Begg to do with as he sees fit.

Elaine's "height" to Richard Harmon.

Janet's levis to Mary Jean Anderson.

Donna Rae's tiny appetite to Karen Flynn.

The five Senior girls' basketball positions to any five other girls capable of filling them.

Margaret's "delivery route" to Delores Miller.

Janet's nickname (Pudge) to Karen Flynn.

Barb's typing ability to Francie Miller.

Donna Rae's straight A's to be divided equally among the Sophomore boys.

Kay's correspondence with her "Air Force man" to Lois Picht.

Janet's first clarinet chair to Karen Flynn.

The Physics class's ability to get Mr. Begg off the subject to his next year's students. (Hope you have better luck than we did!)

Gay's carefree attitude toward his studies to Donna Crosby.

Dean's Buick to Johnny Wheelock.

Gay's bass horn to Dick Kaufman provided he grows enough to be able to hold it up.

Dean's musical car horn to Dale Jarboe for his Oldsmobile.

Helen's dogtag to Betty Wise.

Evelyn's capacity for hard work to Francie Miller.

Kay's household duties to Marilyn Black.

Helen's late hours to Charles Turner.

Elaine's worries about her weight to Lois Picht.

Donna Rae's headaches with the "Fernald Flash" to Sharon Wilson.
(She seems to have got a good start this year.)

Janet's Nevada boy friends to Karen Taylor. (As if she needs them.)

Kay and Gay's numerous arguments to Helen and Lee.

Ray's "muscle-man" build to Warren Larson.

Dean's ability to get out of trouble to Bob Turner.

The wolf whistle on Ray's car to Ronnie. (Make good use of it.)

Kay's giggle to Loretta.

We were going to will someone's figure to Ardis Schuler, but none of ours would be an improvement.

Ray's car to Judy Clark so she won't have to ride the long bus route in the morning.

The Senior Class wills Ray to Sally.

Janet's Irish last name to Kelly to go with his first name.

Janet's careful driving to Larry Miller. What?????

Ray's ability to defend himself to Herman.

Janet's ukelele to Bernadine to go with her grass skirt.

Helen's co-captain honors to Gladys Fincham.

Any money which our class has left to Mary Lou Wise to spend for a train ticket to California.

Donna Rae's editor job on the annual to Mickey.

Gay's car to Gerald Klonglan, Gerald Hitchings, and Lee Dadisman. (Flip for it, boys, don't fight!)

The typing award pins to Mrs. Cummings. She worked harder for them than we did.

Barb's conversations with Francie during English class to Mrs. Chitty. She never gets a word out of him.

The History class's term papers to Mr. Miller. He can have them.

This year's I ratings at contest to Mrs. Miller to distribute to next year's musicians.

SYNOPSIS OF PLAY

Mr. Morlock is a grouchy old goat who doesn't like anything but money, won't let his family do anything, is always griping and won't let his daughter, Mary, become engaged to Joe Lanconi, because Joe's Papa is poor. Luigi Lanconi comes to plead his son's case and is practically booted out of the house. The two old fellows start a fight and P. U. (Mr. Morlock's initials stand for Phillip Ulysses) says if Mary weds Joe it will be over his dead body. Luigi says if they don't it will be over his. Luigi has a bad heart and the poor old boy can't take it--he konks out. The feud appears over. But then Luigi gets permission to come back and haunt Mr. Morlock, until he gives permission for the wedding. Mr. Morlock soon gets frantic because the family thinks he has lost the few remaining marbles that he had. (Luigi is visible only to Morlock--and the audience, of course.) Then Mr. Morlock takes too many sleeping pills and also kicks the bucket. Neither one will leave until everything is settled to his satisfaction. Lucifer, from "down below", drops in to take Mr. Morlock to the lower regions. Many more events take place which lead to a surprising and entertaining climax.

Senior Skip Day

The eleven members of the Senior Class and Mr. Begg spent Thursday, May 7, in Des Moines, enjoying Senior Skip Day. We arrived in Des Moines about 9:30 and immediately proceeded to the Municipal Courthouse where we attended a court session and also toured the jail and other points of interest. At noon we went to Mac Rae Park where we ate a delicious picnic dinner. After dinner we went to the Airport Driving Range, and later put our practice to use by playing miniature golf. At 5 o'clock we drove to the RKO Orpheum Theater where we all witnessed our first 3-Dimensional movie, "House of Wax." Two hours of bowling followed the movie. We then stopped at Lonnie's Drive-In for lunch. The day's entertainment ended with a stop at a baseball batting range. After several futile attempts at this, the boys decided to call it "quits." After a strenuous, but wonderful day, we began our journey home.

Freshman Initiation

The Freshman Class was "formally" welcomed into high school on September 12, 1952. After a week of wearing dunce hats, the big day finally arrived. Each Freshman had his own special "costume" to wear to school.

That evening they assembled in the gym to undergo the actual initiation. This consisted of a paddle line and a quiz contest. Not being able to answer the questions, they all had to pay the consequences. This provided considerable entertainment for everyone. Later lunch was served by the Sophomore Class.

STORY OF PLAY

The Bufords have had a hard time since the death of Mr. Buford, with little money and many bills. Evelyn, who is twenty, works in an office and helps as much as possible but the fifteen-year-old twins, Winnie and Binnie, have to be provided for. Mrs. Buford happens to think of her husband's rich old maid aunt who lives in California. She writes to her and tells her about her three fine children. After describing Evelyn, she says: "I wish you could see the twins, Winnie and Binnie."

Soon a letter comes from Aunt Sophronia saying she is going East soon and will stop over for a few days' visit. She says she is glad the children are all girls because she loathes and despises boys. Her last sentence is like a bombshell. "I intend to give each of your girls a check for $5000."

Evelyn and Binnie are thrilled, but poor Winnie is disconsolate. He won't get a cent. Suddenly Winnie has an inspiration, he will borrow some of Binnie's clothes and pass for a girl while Aunt Sophronia is there and he too will get $5000.

Aunt Sophronia arrives and the fun begins. Complications occur which they hadn't foreseen. The secret almost comes out several times, but they succeed in covering it up. Then a surprising event takes place which makes everything all right and Winnie gets his big check after all.

Junior-Senior Banquet

The evening of April 18, 1953, found a group of twenty-six students and teachers enjoying the Junior-Senior Banquet at Lloyd's Restaurant in Marshalltown. Our theme, "The Sea," was carried out throughout the banquet, with small ship models as favors and fan shaped nut cups. After the Juniors had presented each Senior and teacher with flowers, a delicious three course meal was served consisting of the following menu:

Spouting Whales
(Swiss Steak)

Seaweed
(Tossed Salad)

Black Magic (Coffee)

Serpents Delight
(Tomato Juice and Crackers)

White Caps With Breakers
(Mashed Potatoes and Gravy)

Polished Pearls
(Buttered Peas)

Gold and Silver
(Rolls and Butter)

Seafoam - Fluff
(Strawberry Cream Pie)

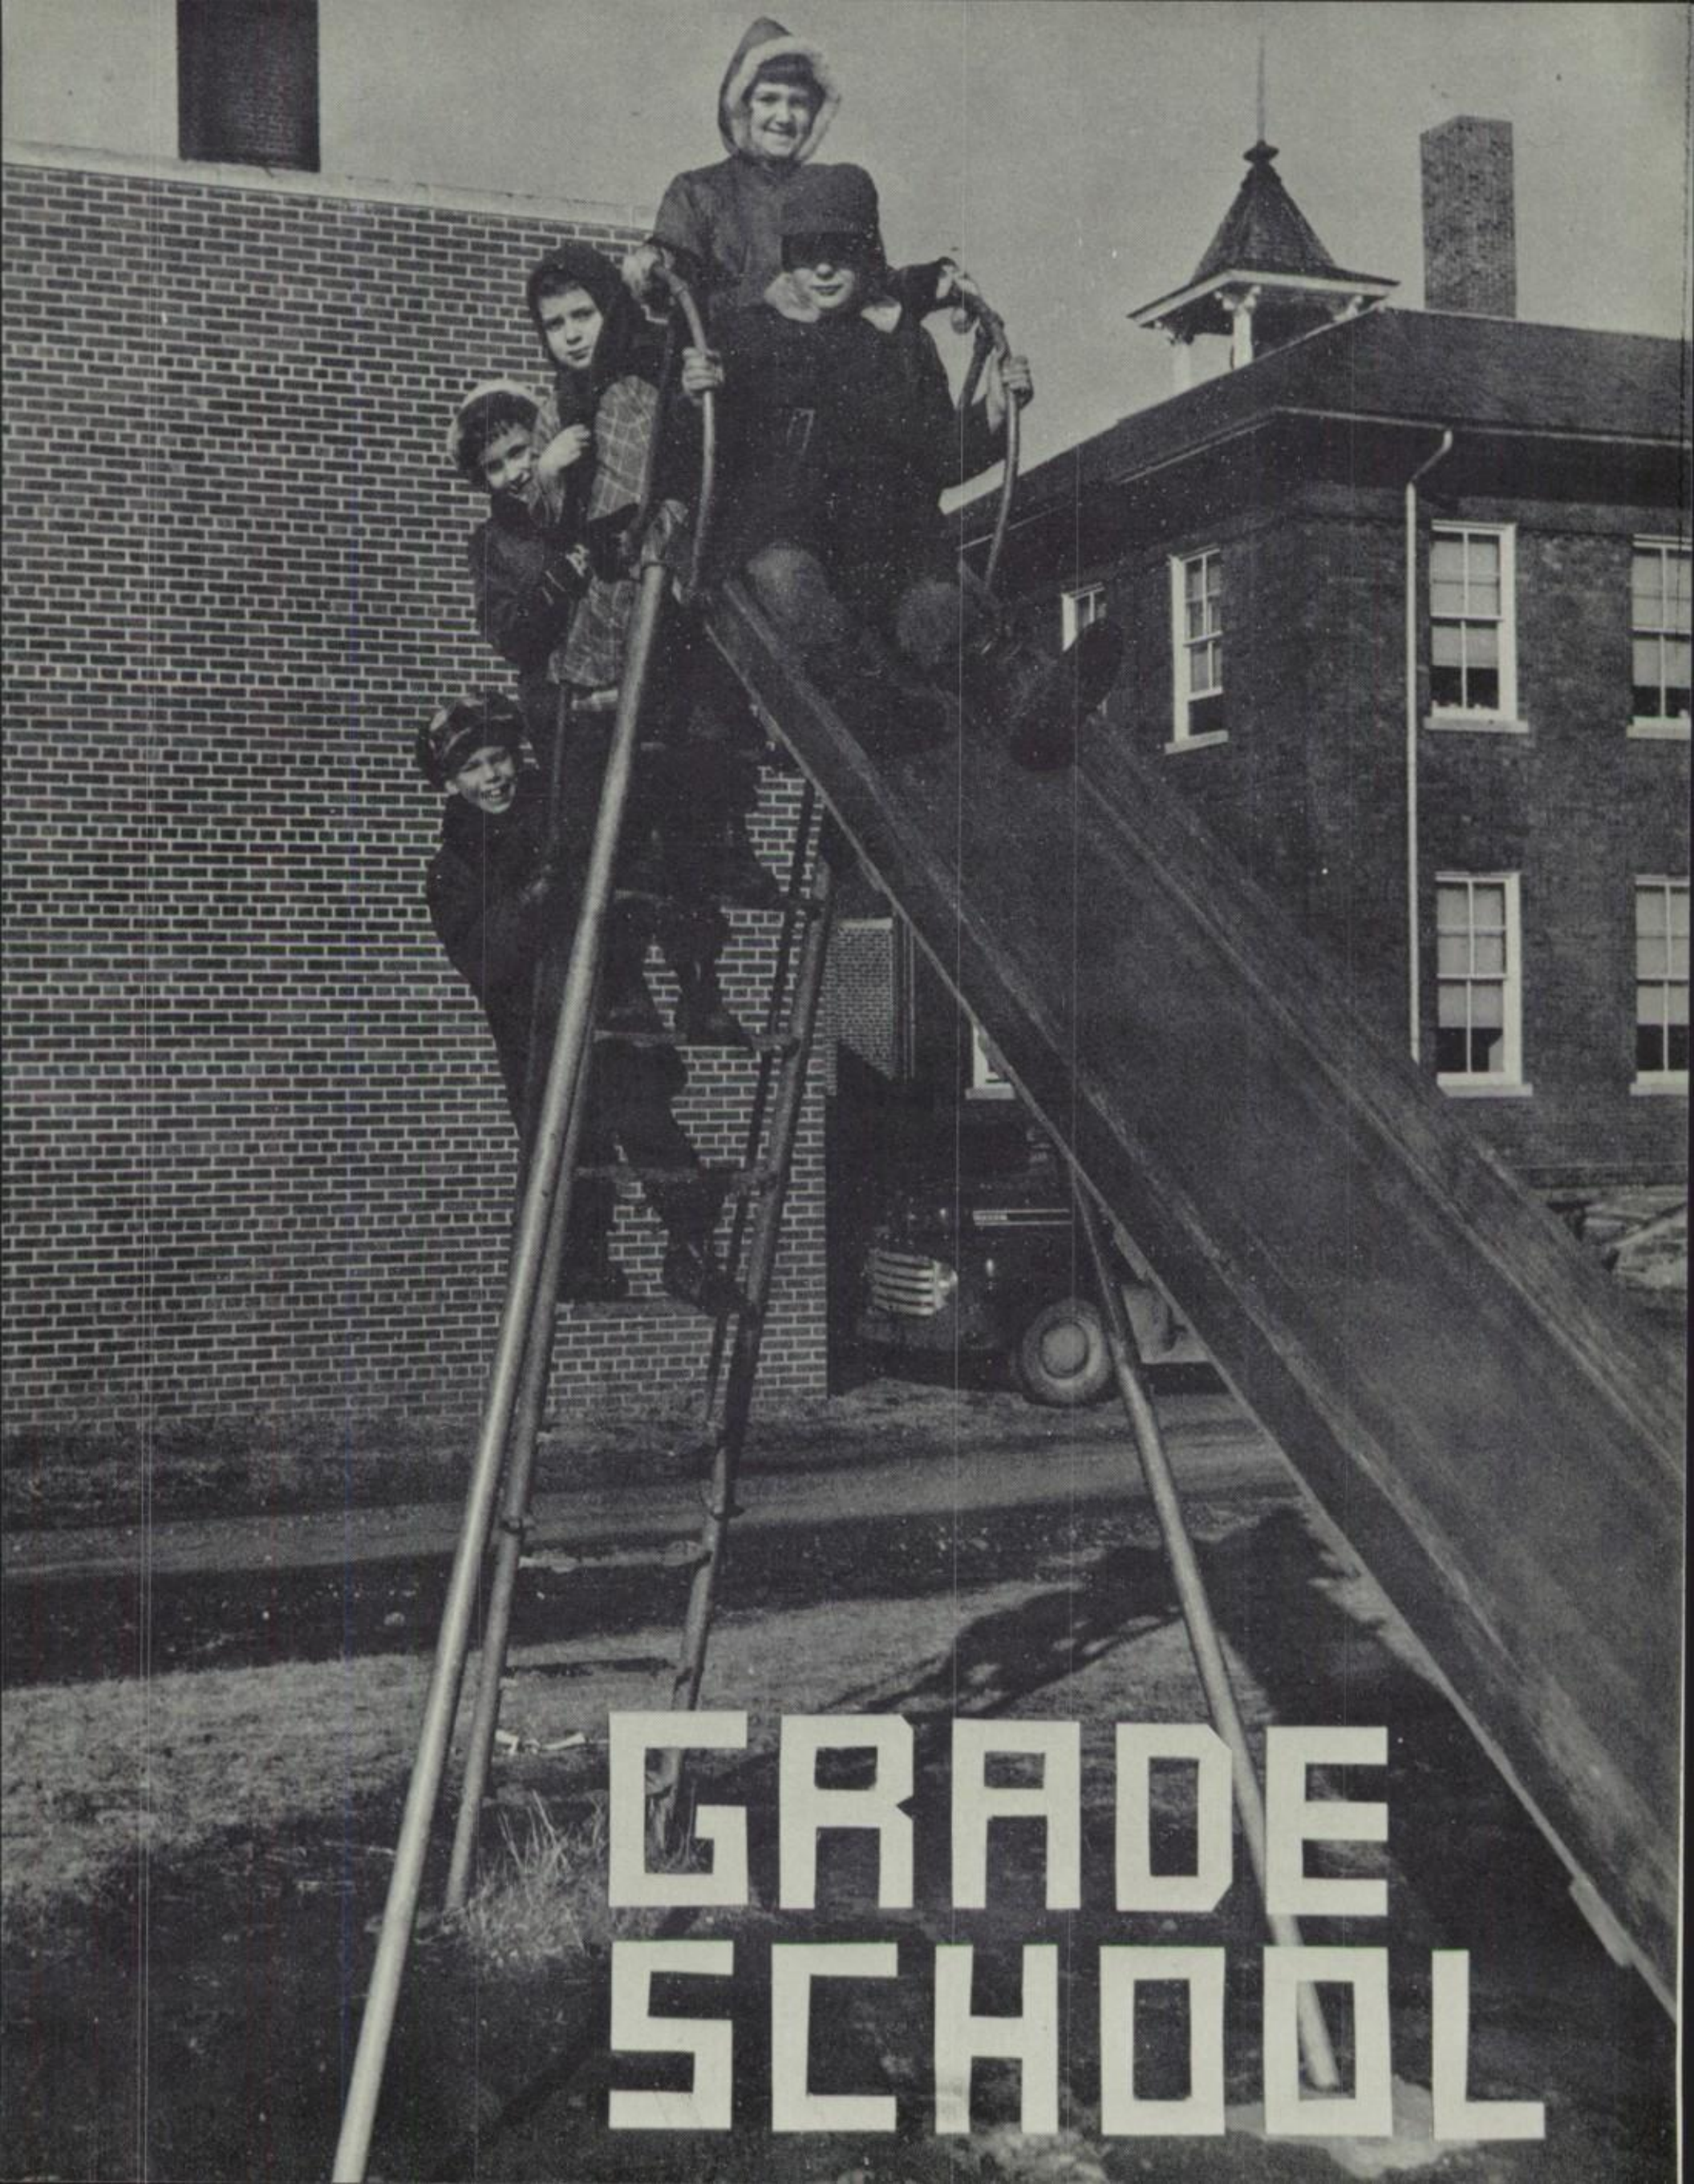

Gerald Klonglan, toastmaster, announced the following program:

Launching (Junior Welcome)
A bon Voyage (Senior Response)
Under Currents (Jokes)
Compass Heading (Toast)
Harbor Lights (Solo)

Marilyn McNatton
Gay Huhn
Lee Dadisman
Mrs. Chitty
Mrs. Miller

After this program we all went to the RKO Orpheum Theater to the movie, "Hans Christian Anderson."
